

Java Client - Client-Side Stake Trace

The stack trace for errors generated in the Client portion of a Java Client application show up in the console of the Client machine, not in the run log of the server.